PREVAILING HINDRANCE

One of the chief factors contributing to the prejudice and intolerance that blind men is misunderstanding.
This is the failure of men to understand fully the truth about those they have learned to oppose or hate, as the case may be. Since the world began there have been high-minded men who earnestly have sought to understand or to comprehend the truth about a thing or about a fellow man. But it has been the sorry experience of the ages that intolerance and prejudice grow out of ignorance, which is but another way of saying that intolerance and prejudice grow out of misunderstanding.

It is human nature for men to accept superficial evidences of fact without attempting to learn the fact.
This is one of the primary causes of misunderstanding. Another, no less important, is an unwillingness to search out the truth and to recognize the truth when it is found. Misunderstanding between men arouses suspicions, prejudices, hatreds and those quarrels which lead to murders and wars. Nations are as much given to it as are individuals.

It is better to see in the average man his virtues as well as sins. He cannot be all bad. But it is human to want to believe that one's fellow man is all bad when he is bad at all.
Too often the darker aspects of his life are accepted as denoting his whole character. Such an attitude inevitably gives vigorous support to misunderstanding. There is the disposition also to misinterpret another man's words and deeds.

Understanding is the cure for misunderstanding. Dignity, pride and the conceptions of what is high or moral are offended more times than not when no offense was intended.

CARE OF THE BY-ROADS

Once upon a time people regarded the highways as a sort of no man's land. They pushed their fences out and stole part of the land that belonged to the roads. That was no-body's business; the roads belonged to nobody. They pastured their cows on the grass that grew at the roadside.
Who cared? The roads belonged to everybody; that is, to nobody. Anyone could pick up the apples from roadside trees. Nobody could order one off the road.

There survives in places something of the old contempt for the roads.
Here and there some unthinking person carts out a load of rubbish and throws it beside the road. Usually this occurs along a by-way or unimproved road, and this fact reveals that the people have not arrived at the proper appreciation of the highest value of the roads to their community.

These by-roads and country lanes are to become one of the country's finest assets. More and more the tourists will leave the big, straight cement highways and find enjoyment in the countryside. Country people are learning not to scorn the tourists, and, apart from the considerations of making their own homesites and their environs pleasant, is the incentive to prepare their district to bid for the profitable tourist traffic. The roadside dump is an insult and an economic loss to a community.

The good attendance at the Mother's Day service last Sunday gave evidence of the high esteem and loving memories of Mother entertained by young and old.

Cutting Corns With Razor Leads To Lock-Jaw

Don't cut corns with an old razor blade. Infection, followed often by death may result from paring corns with an infected razor. Quick, safe relief comes from using PUTNAM'S CORN EXTRACTOR. Canadian Legion

Dominion Convention To Be Held In Regina In November Of This Year

The Dominion Convention of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L., will be held in Regina on November 25th 1929.

To those ex-service men who are not members of the Legion, the present is an opportune time to become identified with the organization that has done much to promote the welfare of returned men, their widows and dependents.

The work of the Legion is not diminishing as the years go by, but rather is growing. The membership likewise is increasing and particularly so in Saskatchewan since the Provincial Convention, but in the province there are still a number of men who are eligible to join, and who have not as yet identified themselves with the organization, possibly due to lack of opportunity to do so.

With the increase of branches throughout the province, there is now local representation in practically every district, and the provincial secretary, Canadian Legion, Regina, will be pleased to advise anyone, on request, of the nearest local branch.

Unity among returned men was accomplished when the Canadian Legion came into being some years ago. All that remains is to complete the membership and make the organization even more representative than it is today.

On its record of achievement alone, the Legion deserves the support of all ex-service men, and it is hoped that the next few months will see every eligible man in Saskatchewan enrolled. The dues are nominal, but the presence of every returned man in the ranks of the Legion will be of the utmost value in furthering the aims and objects of the organization, and in promoting that comradeship which is one of its biggest assets.

NO MEDICINE LIKE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a Mother Has Used Them She Will Use Nothing Else

To once use Baby's Own Tablets is to use them continually—that is as long as there are young children in the home. That is the testimony given us by mothers from all parts of Canada. They all say that they know of nothing to equal the Tablets, that they find them safe and efficient and at the same time pleasant to take.

Mrs. John Hollinworth, Maidstone, Ont., writes:—"I have three children, the eldest fourteen and the youngest nine months old. I have always used Baby's Own Tablets for them and have found no other medicine to equal the Tablets as a relief for the many ailments of childhood."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach. They drive out constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers and make the cutting of teeth easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 19

JEREMIAH CALLS TO OBEDIENCE

Golden Text: "Hearken unto My voice, and I will be your God, and ye shall be My people."—Jeremiah 7. 23.

Lesson: Jeremiah 7.1-26.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 96. 7-13.

Explanations and Comments

Outward Ritual Is Not Religion, verses 1-4.—Jeremiah felt impelled to stand at the gate of the temple and warn the people. To all who entered in at these gates to worship in the temple, Jeremiah cried: "Thus saith Jehovah of hosts, the God of Israel, amend your ways and your doings (a favorite expression with Jeremiah), and I will cause you to dwell in this place, you need not fear being carried off into exile. Trust not in the lying words of false prophets who declare unto you that God will never permit this holy temple to be destroyed." The threefold repetition of the words "the temple of Jehovah" suggests the energy of iteration that belongs only to Eastern fanatics, Dean Stanley observes. Recall the repeated cries of the fanatics in the theatre at Ephesus. "Great is Diana of the Ephesians" (Acts 19.)

Is it not thus that the children of godly parents presume on the results of ancestral piety? Is it not thus that evil-living men will risk the consequences of sin, because they are prepared to make liberal gifts to religion? The drink-seller, the opium-smuggler, the slave-impostor, have all, in one form or another, administered sedatives to conscience, saying: "The temple of the Lord! The temple of the Lord!"—F. B. Meyer.

There Must Be Obedience To the Covenant Of Old, verses 5-7.—The continued security of the people in the land of their fathers would depend upon their reforming and practicing the social virtues, Jeremiah declared.—the security of justice between a man and his neighbor, the freeing from oppression of the stranger, the fatherless and the widow, and the avoidance of the shedding of innocent blood—and also upon the avoidance of the worship of false gods. The stranger was the sojourner from away, the alien resident temporarily in Judah. He and the fatherless with the widow had no voice in the administration of affairs and could be easily oppressed.

"As the potter has power over the clay to make and to change as he pleases, so is the nation in the hands of God to do with as seems best to Him. It is not for us to try to mould the national life and purpose without God and His Son Jesus Christ, into whose hands the nations of the world have been given; it is for us to make sure first of all that our nation is right with God and that we have the spirit of submission and obedience to him. Then the vessel will come out a vessel of honor, for the hands of God will be moulding the clay on the wheel."—The Youth's Companion.

CANADIAN AIR MAIL PLANE ESTABLISHES WORLD'S RECORD

The entire world recognizes that Canada, in proportion to her population, is making greater practical use of aircraft than any other country and the "work" records of Canadian airplanes are regarded as even more important contributions to the advancement of aviation than the endurance and other stunt achievements of other countries.

Canada's latest and most impressive practical record in air is in speedy delivery of air mail and Capt. D. S. Bondurant, pilot for Canadian Airways (subsidiary of International Airways of Canada, Limited), as a result of a record flight between Toronto and Montreal, now holds the world's air mail speed record.

Capt. Bondurant, flying a Fairchild "71," powered by a Pratt & Whitney Wasp engine, on March 21st, covered the 340 miles from Toronto to Montreal in just one hour and forty-four minutes, and this has now been established as the world's fastest air mail flight.

Remarkable as this time is, Capt. Bondurant would have bettered it, but for fog encountered a little over 100 miles from Montreal. Up to this point he has flown 215 miles in just 60 minutes, maintaining a speed of over 3½ miles a minute.

Throughout the record-breaking flight Capt. Bondurant reported perfect performance from his plane which was fueled with Imperial Aeroplane Spirits and lubricated with Imperial Marvelube Motor Oil products which have become the almost universal preference of Canadian aircraft operators who choose them for 90 out of every 100 miles flown in Canada.

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

Connie had rehearsed this moment a thousand times. She stood quietly on the steps for a moment, then slipped gracefully to the platform, Connie herself could not have imagined how changed she was. From coiffure to dainty French heels she was dressed as if fresh from the hands of an expert Parisian costumer. So dazzling was she that she positively took Donald's breath away. It seemed to him that she had grown like a magic rose, all at once from a tiny bud to a full blossom. No fault could be found with the perfect oval of her face, or with the delicate white rose skin, from which every trace of tan had gone. The long lashes that fringed her big blue eyes had turned a shade darker than the curling waves of her abundant golden hair.

Andy, whose small form had been hidden in the rear, moved bashfully forward, fumbling the wide hat held in his hand. "Elo, Connie," he blurted, his lips parted in a wide smile of welcome.

Instantly Connie forgot her assumed dignity and became her warm, impulsive little self. With a glad cry she flung her arms about Andy's neck and kissed him.

"Strike me pink!" breathed Andy, as his hand stole up to touch the spot where Connie's lips had brushed his cheek.

Connie turned to face the lake. "Oh, Dad!" she cried in ecstasy, "isn't it good to be back here again?" She stretched her arms toward the ice-clad peaks. A gentle breeze swept down the wooded slope to fan her face as though in welcome. The blood surged beneath her smooth white skin and went singing through every vein. "Ah!" she sighed happily, as she inhaled a deep breath of air laden with the odour of pine from the hills she loved. Donald, gazing at her hungrily, saw tears brimming under her long lashes.

From the far end of the train a tall, grey-haired man assisted a slender sweet-faced woman to the ground, and then walked towards the station. As they stepped to the platform the woman's eyes rested on Donald, who stood with his back to her. Instantly she became rooted to the spot, eyes wide, one hand fluttering toward her heart. With the supreme, wondrous mother-love shining in her eyes, she held out her arms.

"Donald!" she cried passionately, "Donald!"

Donald whirled at the sound of the loved voice calling his name. His heart throbbed wildly, his throat felt constricted and his face paled under stress of strong emotion.

"Mother!"

His arms were around his mother, yearning, tender, hungry, after these long months of separation. Her face upturned to his was white and drawn, but her eyes shone with hallowed joy. He felt his hand gripped in his father's strong fingers, and saw his eyes shining with tears. John McLean patted his boy's dark head with a shaking head.

"Donnie! My boy, Donnie!"

For some time Donald was oblivious to all save the great happiness of meeting his parents. His mother's embrace almost unmanned him, and it was with difficulty that he kept back the sobs that tightened his throat.

He led his parents to the other end of the platform and introduced them to his friends.

Robert Rennie's comments were simply gasps and a reiterated, "Well! Well!"

Andy offered his usual contribution. "Strike me pink!" he said.

Connie's eyes were filled with soft eagerness as she greeted Donald's mother. The glow in Donald's face as he spoke to Connie was poignantly significant of his deep love for her. But Connie, to his consternation and dismay, met his ardent glances with a look of cold indifference.

Since Connie's arrival Janet's features held a look of disquietude, but she acknowledged the introduction to Donald's parents with a radiant smile.

A moment later, Connie, with skirts held high, was running down the railroad track.

"Going after her horse," smiled Wainwright in answer to Donald's question.

"Will you have dinner with us?" invited Donald.

"Yes, thank you," responded Wainwright. "We will sleep in the car tonight," he continued, "but Constance insists that we must return to the old home as soon as possible. She has been busy drawing plans for a chalet she intends building on the bluff.

Connie returned with the old trapper, the latter leading Pegasus.

At dinner Connie showed no signs of her former shyness. She was as self-possessed, calm and perfectly poised as a goddess. A glad light filled her eyes as Gillis and his crew of "redshirts" filed into the big dining-room. She sprang to her feet and greeted them joyfully, shaking hands with each and everyone.

"I'm so glad to see you, Jack," she smiled.

The big logger took her tiny hand in his. "We're sure glad to have you with us again, Connie."

"May I bring Andy in to dine with us, Mr. McLean?" she asked as she came back to the table.

Donald nodded assent. She ran gleefully to the kitchen, and a moment later the loggers grinned broadly as she came through the door leading the protesting cook by the arm.

"Now," she said as Andy sat down, "we're all here." She looked about her and clasped her hands rapturously. "It seems as though I had been gone for years. And oh, it is so nice to be home again!" She sank to a chair between Andy and the trapper. "Do you remember, Andy, when you were dressed as a butler and danced with John at your party?" She threw back her golden head and her silvery laughter filled the room.

Janet was unhappy from the moment of Connie's arrival. She had caught the look of adoration in Donald's eyes as Connie stepped to the station platform. Standing there then she had quite definitely abandoned any hope of winning him. And Janet had been so sure that once she had held a place in his heart. A great depression, a great weariness of spirit, settled upon her.

That evening, as Donald walked with his parents by the lake-shore, he turned to his father. "Dad," he said anxiously, "do you think I have made good? Will you forgive me for—for—"

John McLean's eyes grew suddenly misty. "Donnie," he began gently, "Mr. Rennie has told us all about you. And no man could speak more highly of another." He drew a newspaper from his pocket. "Haven't you seen this?"

It was Vancouver's morning paper with a full-page devoted to the visit of the Eastern lumbermen. There were several photographs of the Summit Mill and one of Donald. The paper spoke of him as "the able young engineer whose modern ideas and energy had given to British Columbia a logging plant and mill that were a credit to the Province."

Donald saw the proud light in his father's eyes, and his heart was filled with a great peace.

The next day carpenters and material arrived for the construction of Wainwright's new home. That afternoon Connie, clad in fashionable riding habit, came to the mill office with her foreman to place an order for lumber. Pegasus in silver-mounted bridle and English saddle was proudly restive. With neck arched he curvetted and rocked while Connie sat on his back with that complete lack of self-consciousness that is the heritage of a born horsewoman. Before leaving she rode up the hill among the toiling workers, her irresistible smile bringing an answering grin from the "redshirts," who doffed their hats and shouted a joyous greeting.

All day pack-horses and men struggled up the hill, staggering under the weight of building material. But although Donald strained his eyes for a glimpse of the golden-haired rider, he saw her no more that day.

The invisible difference

Many motor oils look alike, but there is a vast difference in the way they perform. Unfortunately this difference is difficult to detect.

The invisible difference which makes one motor oil better than another must be inherent in the crude from which it is made.

There you have the reason why Marvelube gives better engine lubrication than oils refined from ordinary crudes. Imperial Oil searched the world over for a better crude—and in South America they found it. From it they make Marvelube—a pure, carbon-free, full-bodied oil that resists the extreme heats and pressures of modern engine operation.

Aircraft operators prefer Marvelube because better lubrication means greater safety and longer intervals between overhauls. Motorists prefer Marvelube because it is the ideal oil for modern motors. It ensures greater power, greater flexibility and greater economy.

There is a grade of Marvelube refined to meet exactly the specifications of your car. Consult the Marvelube Chart at Imperial Oil service stations and dealers.

A Word From Ford Motor Co. To Its Local Dealer, Roger Barrett

Every year, at some time, it seems we hear about impassable roads, mud, slush that is axle deep, and so on. The weather that brings these conditions is quite welcome in our western country, providing it comes at the proper time. However, these bad conditions should be used to capitalize on Ford sales, for, isn't it a fact that the travellers on the road, the farmers coming to town, are driving Fords? The tougher the roads—the greater the percentage of Fords, for the simple reason that the road clearance enables Ford cars to travel when others with less clearance cannot negotiate the bad roads.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

An intensive sign-up campaign from June 1 to July 21 has been arranged by the directors of the Alberta Live Stock Pool in connection with the second series contract. The new contract is for a five year period with a renewal clause at the end of that time and makes provision for share capital at $5 per share to bear interest at 6 per cent for the acquiring of facilities and the carrying on of the business of the pool.

In line with the policy of the Alberta government to promote the eradication and control of noxious weeds, twenty field supervisors will be stationed at various points throughout the province, it is announced by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture. These men will act in conjunction with municipal councils and local weed inspectors in an intensive educational campaign directed against the further spread of noxious weeds. While they will be vested with authority to enforce the provisions of the Noxious Weeds Act, an attempt will be made in every case to secure the desired results through education and co-operation with the farmers in the districts in which they are stationed.

The recital by Miss Ina Mae Hummon under the auspices of the I.O.D.E. last Thursday evening in the Opera House did not boast of a packed house but those present were given a real treat. Miss Hummon is talented artist and presented her reading, in which were over 15 characters, in an extremely pleasing manner. At times her delivery was a little too rapid and not quite loud enough for the big hall but her presentation, nevertheless, possessed the marks of a talented elocutionist. Mayor Chambers acted as chairman and Miss M. Saugstad gave a vocal solo. The dance later on in the evening was fairly well attended, the Carstairs Orchestra playing.

Miss Hester Campbell of Carstairs spent the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Studer.

Mrs. J. McCloy entertained the members of the local chapter of the I.O.D.E. at five tables of bridge last week. Mrs. W. Keith won first honors and Mrs. A. G. Studer the consolation. Later in the evening, Miss Marguerite Johnson, who leaves shortly to take up residence in Calgary, was presented with a handsome fountain pen and an address by Mrs. J. E. Huget.

The 30 or more members of the local order of the Eastern Star, who journeyed to Olds Thursday evening last and who were guests of the Olds Mountain View O.E.S. No. 1, report a most enjoyable evening. The program presented and the lunch served were up to all expectations of the hospitality of the hosts and hostesses.

It is not too early to make preparation for the local fair. Decide now to enter stock in several of the classes, and keep an eye open for the most likely prospects. With the young animals, a little extra handling between now and fair day will improve the chance of securing some of the awards, and incidentally making the 1929 Didsbury Exhibition this August the biggest yet.
